THE VISION

Close your eyes.

Imagine yourself in a meticulously restored airliner from the Golden Age of Flying.

The distinctive cough of piston aircraft engines starting fills the motionless morning air.

The mighty Wright Cyclone 18 cylinder, turbo-compound engines come to life.

They belch smoke.

They spit flame.

The rough startup sounds transition into a smooth symphony of raw power.

You're moving.

The roar of the engines grows louder.

You feel the bumps on the runway pavement as your airplane accelerates.

You sense a sudden smoothness.

You're airborne.

In one of the last of the great propeller-driven airliners.

Flying back in time.

Open your eyes.

It's no dream.

It's reality

You can experience the unique thrill of the Golden Age of Flying at an affordable price.
